BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, THURSDAY, DECEMBER A, PAFE DIKS BAREIT

County and Bay make street pact

Resolutions were a dopted Monday by both the board of supervisors and City Commisnion Council giving the supervicors concurrent juricdiction of Bay St. Louis streets for maintenance purposes under Sec. 8325 of the State Cods.

The documents enable the county to use its newly acquired cortable asphalt plant related equipment and manpower to repair Ray St. Louis streets battered by installation of water and sewer services.

Beats 1 and 2 already had sent in operators and machinery to assist with the job and further use of county goods is now legally authorized.

The supervisors acted on the motion of H.G. Dean, seconded by Jack Lott. Commission Council's resolution was coopte ed on the motion of J. Cyril Glover, seconded by Warren Traub.

The documents provide that simuid the supervisors mede any advances to the city from county funds which are later needed or desired by the supervisors for any purposes the city shall repay them from any funds available. This provision includes, but it now limited to, payment of principal and interest on port and harbor bonds.

Both governing bodies are responsible for keeping proper accounts of expenditures so that can be readily ascertained.

The county assumes no liability for negligence in construction of the streets.

J. Ruble Griffin, supervieors' attorney who presented the papers for adoption, suggested the county order the moterials under its various contracts, pay for them with funds available and bill the city. He felt this would result in conciderable saving since the county regularly purchase these goods under contract. Griffin advised also that a committee be set up from the supervisors to go into details with the city administration.

The proposition has been under orudy by the sup rvisors for the last month. An amendment by the 1962 legislature to this portion of the State Code permits the county to maintain city areets, whether or not they are continuations of or intercect county roads. It was under this provision that the resolutions were adopted.

Recommendations from W. S. Goldman, engineer for the city on street repairs, are now under study by Commission Council. in addition to resurfacing Court Street, now in progreen, Goldman has suggested the program cover Central Avenue from the corporate limits to Washington Street; Ulman Avenue from the beach to Dunbar Avenue; Dunbar from Hancock General Hospital to Main Street; Old Spanish Trail from Main to Washington, and Second Street between Ulman and Un-

The regionation also was accepted of C.E. Martin as seawall timekeeper and on Supervisor H.G. Dean's motion Rulus Dawsey was appointed to the post at the existing salary of $300 plus $30 expenses a month.

A $5,800 budget for civil defense in the current fiscal year was approved as submitted by Favre. The county expects to be reimbursed for half of this under civil defense motching funds. Expenditures include $3,600 for the director's salary, $200 for millage; $200 for office expenses, and $1,800 consulting engineers to accept dredging and clearing and grubbing bids for the Mulatto Bayou industrial park were manimously approved by the board of supervisors Monday. The motion by Beat I Supervisor H.G. Dean, recorded by Jack Lott of Beat 4, reversed the port and harbor commission's solit decision of Nov. 21 to reject the prices. Michael Baker, jr., Inc., the engineers, recommended that the port commission take the low bids Bauer Dredging Co. for dredging and L.S. Stockstill for clearing and grubbing. Supervisors found it in the public interest to proceed at the earllest possible date.

Dean voted no in each instance, contending that the county should have its own planning program and furthermore, St. Tammany Parish, La., one of four units involved, was no longer putting up its share of funds. The first phase was completed but Uncle Sam's assistance for the rest of the program was never forthcoming because the regional scheme was given priority.

> Wagner appeared with Michael Hans, recently appointed as first counsel for the regional body who requested the two recolutions to clear up what he foresaw as possible legal difficulties to its operation.

Ruble Griffin, attorney for the supervisoro, edvised the county could get out of the commission at the end of the current fiscal year if it to desires,

On Item 1, it attributed the excessive price of $1.70 per cubic yard to the rather indefinite location of the work and required preparation of spoil areas. Item 2, placing dredging in landfill areas, it found the unit price of 243 cents per cubic yard reasonable and hasically a good bid. The Mohile District, U.S. Corps of

Monday. One involved restoration of the beach front road; another, maintenance of the sand berm installed as a seawall protection measure, and third, liability over some minorislands creat-

But Wier figures the job will cost $400,000 compared to the $260,000 estimate of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to fix Rt. 606-that's the beach

Under the federal formula, it will match 50 per cent of the job-$130,000 in this case--which leaves the balance of $270,000 up to the already heavily tapped seawall maintenance fund. This apparently is only for the section from Clermont Harbor to around Citizen Street.

One solution

At Monday's meeting of Harcork County Board of Supervisors several reason, were advanced on the thys and wherefores of the county's failure to receive financial assistance for its planning pro-

The most understandable was the shortage of qualifie: planning personnel in the Agricultural and Industrial Board. At present the board has only two employes specializing in community planning and, according to E.R. Daley who represented the board at the . Acting, they are supervising the planning of as many communities as they can handle

Another reported stumbling block to Hancock County's request for assistance is a shortage of fund: for this purpose. On this point Duley implied that Gov. Paul Johnson could make more funds available to the A&I board for this purpose.

The third factor mentioned as mitigating against assistance for the county's program is its participation in regional planning. The incipient regional planding effort, which includes Harrison and Pearl River Counties and St. Tammany Parish as well as dancock (our y, was embarked at the recommendation of NaSA officials and Federal Housing and and Home Administration officials from Atlanta.

Although there is but one pilot π del, the area around Cape Kennedy (Canaveral), and the first two years' effort and expense there produced nothing but a good map α^i the area, these federal officials were high in their expectations of regional planning. (Amittedly, the Atlanta based officials resulty pointed out now much money their agency could rpend or suc : project and how little it would out the local area." Now comes the report by Daley that I cleral authorities in Atlanta prefer the regional planning project for Hancock County and consequently are adverse to putting up money for county planning. This is a quite different picture from the one prerented by these same officials when they urged reation of a regional planning commission at a Gulfpor meeting earlier this year.

Aside from any naturally antagonistic reaction we have to federal pressure for us to our, out regional planning versus county planning, we think that the emphasis is misplaced. Accepting for the no sent that regional planning offers advantages, beyond the spending of available federal made, it still has no such urgency for the county is wes county; lanning. We need the latter and we note it now. For a let; time we can do without request!

If the preference of federal officials in the reminal three of FHHA in Atlanta for regional planming over county planning is holding up assistance to Hancock County for county rlanning, one answer pull out of seems clear. Hancock County the regional planning group. Then the world be no planning to prefer to - Planning.

Next year, the draft law comes up for review. We want to raise a storm

An insidious move to regiment the youth of the nation into a Washingtonrun labor army, camouflaged as "civic action organizations," is now under way. Strong hints of what is to come have been dropped by Secretary Robert McNamara, and his ideas on national regimentation have been strongly endorsed by New York's liberal Senator Jacobs Javits. It's clear already that the McNamara - Javita concept of universal service will be slipped into the draft law, if possible.

Actually, there is nothing new about the basic idea of universal service. It was a pet project of Eleanor Roosevelt, and it was ardently promoted by her friend, Mrs. Anna Resemberg when she was Assistant Secretary of Defense under General George Marshall. Indeed, the controversial Mrs. Resemberg worked diligently in 1951 to put over a scheme for "national service" as part of a bill dealing with the military training of a reserve army. And she almost got away with it.

The excuse then was that, with a war going on in Korea, everyone had an obligation to "serve." The same excuse is being used again today by the realists for conscription for everyone. With a war going on in Vietnam, they say, everyone should be available to do the hidding of Big Brother. If the armitee doesn't like the military, let him @ fight poverty or battle for civil rights or do something else that Washington considers worthwhile. The Peace Corps, the Poverty Corps, and the Teachers Corps can always be augmented by other massive boondoggles to absorb millions of conscripts.

Promoters of conscription-for-all have an advantage in that the present draft law admittedly has some inequities. And much is made of the fact that many eligible men are able to evade military duty. It is because of this that such organizations as the American Legion have long called for Universal Military Training. However, it is a far cry from UMT to Universal Service, and the people plugging for the latter have little in common with the veterans who properly feel that those able to bear arms should do so.

Let's keep the emphasis on bearing arms - not boundoggles.

Universal Service is a concept foreign to America. It has been practiced primarily by Facist and Communist countries. We aren't ready for it-yet.

The supervisors' plan now is the Bay High School chorus to use their recently purchased mas program under the direction of Mrs. Toy Tedford when that and other related jobs. To that end the board called for bids [an. 3 on a dragline with a pile driver attachment, bulldozer with a low boy and grader, all to be purchased through the seawall fund. No estimates were given as to possible cost. The motion was Dolph Kellar of Beat 2

Sonier proposed that the $25 dollars monthly given to the National Guard be discontinued. The notion, seconded by Longo, was adopted by the board.

Mayor Ladner called a recess until Thursday night Dec. 15, so the board would have time to discuss salaries. peconded by H.G. Dean of Beat

Because the county has agreed with the federal government to maintain the sandberm along the seawall, Ruble Griffin, board attorney, was asked to prepare some resolution regulating piers extending out from the beach.

Kellar cited maintenance difficulties around pilings in the sand and inquired if the county could make people build piers from the water's edge rather than the seawall. Supervicors heard but took no formal action on a request from Sheriff Lodner to ask the State Highway Department to fill in some holes on the U.S. right of way which Ladner said he considered particularly dangerous to motorists. He cited one hole at Washington Road where a man was killed a few weeks ago and another had situation at the State Street intersection. Ladner suggested the board press Highway Commissioner John D. Smith for correction.

At the request of H. J. Blackledge, administrator of Hancock General Hospital, the board rescinded its action of Oct. 16 awarding contracts for equipment on the new 12-bed addition to the hospital to apparent second low bidders when they turned out not to be low. The change had been recommended with concurrence of the State Commission on Hospital Care when the original low bidder had defaulted. Supervisors were informed unless they cleared the matter promptly, the state would cut off the project. Revised bids now go to Bedsole Medical Supply, McNees Me-dical and American Hospital

The Union of Miscipal pi State University could be called a home away from home. But that description is not really adequate since very few homes are equipped with a bowline alley, a barber shop and a

That description, too, is misleating because it is used as much by faculty, alumni and tileads of the linversity as it is used by students. It fact, its meeting rooms are booked solid for the remainder of the year. There are those who call it a place of relaxation. But who wants to relax during a dance sponsoired by the Union progran comittee

In actuality, the Union is all these things. The best description of this beautiful new building aught be "the most used and the most needed building at Mississippi State

Whee. . . . it's amazing what just a little bit of asphalt will do for the morale of Hancock Countians. Frankly, for as long an we've been pedaling advertising. October and early Novomber have been premy alow business-wise. . .but never, never, ever, ever have walls of wee so assalled our ears as in the past couple of months. The Street Enters, of course, received all the blame, but truly, the time of year must have had comething to to with business continuing to move at such a small-like

Then around the end of last week, either the Christman cpirit sesped into formerly summer-minded brains. Or people suddenly realized that they could reach the downtown area and KU hack and forth to Waveland without demoliphing their numomobiles. And the area seemed to come alive all but miraculough, Smiles replaced worried frowns, and everyone comed all reads to welcome Santa back for his annual visit.

Beauty queen is bride

Former Miss Bay St. Louis, Mrs. Teddy Stechmann, jr., new Berty Smith, was one of the loveliest brides ever when the marched down the siste at 2 p.m. Saturday at Our Lody of the Gu" Chuch. Her traditional floor length gown of ivory satin was beautiful, but most attractive was the hecopiece, which she designed and made as well as her train, and drespes and accessories of her bridesmaids. She used as a base the crocheted caplet in which her grandmother had been baptised, topping it off with tiny patin rosebude fashioned of the same material as her gown; and from these fell a graceful, short well of lvory. sheer chiffon, her bridal corsage was attached to a white furrrimmed muff, and bridesmaids carried white fur muffs, with cprays of red and green cascading in front of their emerald green long frocks. Their headpieces were tiny white fur hats with a touch of red and green, matching to muffo. Mothers of the couple Betty Smith and Edrice Stechmann must have gotten together on their outfits, so well did they harmonize. . . and the lathers Arthur and Teddy were resplendent in tuxes. and we can' help but add that we'll be willing to bet that Viva (Mrs. Arthur, sr.) Smith was the youngest looking grandmother c. any bride we've ever seen. Her grandfather, unfortunately, missed the nuptials, as he's still recuperating from the hip fracture, sustained in a fall at his home in early August. The parish hall was extensively decorated in white and silver and the shades of green theme carried out even in color of the punches

An amusing sidelight, which we're writing about before the newly weds have discovered the fact, is that friends managed to bocate their get-away automobile, which Teddy, or, thought to he safely locked in the Magnolia State warehouse. . . he had the keys in his pocket, never dreaming that Bud Phillips could be persuaded to part with his set!

Ansleyites seek fire truck

Anoley residents, who heretofore have had virtually no way to combat lazards of fire in that community, have located a uneable fire fighting truck and equipment, which they will be chie to purchase at a very reasonable price. . . the only catch is that they must raise the sum. Edie Dunnegan phoned to report that a shooting match, to benefit this worthy cause, will take place at p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, at the Red Barn. . . if you can't be present, we're oure you can find out where to purchase tickets by calling 467-7873. This project was brought to a head when Car and Joe Mays' house burned to the ground several weeks ago. and they and helpleso neighbors were forced to watch flames cagulf all of their possessions.

Yule celebrating is on

When Bobbie and Marie Trelles toss a Christmas party, it's well toseed! The effect, which began at 8 p.m. Saturday, and and for an we know, may still be in progress, wan just too great to truly describe accurately. Bobbie and Alicon greeted guests in fabulous winter formals. . Bobbie's was white satin with jeweled bodice and Alicon's dazzling empire bodice ended in a carolight older of grey wool. . . the Maxies were Enquirently extired in dark blazero and slacks accented with gay mod ties. Feminine guests were allowed to choose from a large selection of at least three inch long dangle earrings, with jingle bella merrily forming the last bangle. Men were given a choice of burronaires. . . smow men, Santas, etc. which got the whole thing off to a happy start. To add spice to the fere nine h were on hand. Youthful ones having been mentioned in Teen Times. . .cdults were the very attractive and talented Mary Mallo Higgins. . . (che's Linda and Shipper's ma); and Kay and Marki Lagarde, all of Baton Rouge. Just come of the guests included Gerald Kennedy. . . his publicity loothing wife was of course along, but we promised not to write about her; Delores and Robert Castelin, Dot and Merlin Markel, Floyd and Peggy Regring, Caroline Kiefer, gorgeous in a full length formal of Imported brocades, Lee and Chuck Le Croy, Bersy and Wally Walcott, Theore and Eldon Gilly, Dal Powell, Irma and Johnny Leveno, there briefly as party or no, there are still ailing ones; Helen and Dick Mestayer; Loraine and George Fanning. and low of others, but space is limited.

DID YOU KNOW YOU WALKED

That's right. It takes 625 steps just to hang one 8-pound load of clothes on the line. If you're just an average family with an average amount of laundry, then you walk 40 miles each year up and down the clothes line

That adds up to the ee hours of time each week . . . or 20 eight hour working days.

With an electric dryer your steps are reduced to zero. You have the ee hours a week to read, play with the children, try new recipes, visit with friends, or just relax.

Your electric dryer gives greater flexibility to your household schedule. You can launder anytime of day or night, in any weather. And your clothes are softer, sweeter, hygical ically clean when they have been dried electrically.
